Join Collective Purpose during Mental Health Month as we discuss the intersectionality of cultural diversity and mental health.

The session will cover how diversity in cultures and backgrounds affect mental health related experiences and in turn how cultural diversity plays an important role for the recovery of someone experiencing mental ill health. This session will also discuss what mental health service providers need to consider when they work with people from a diverse range of cultures and who also have a lived experience of mental ill health.

Tuesday, 23rd October
5:30 pm to 7:30 pm
Collective Purpose
Level 5, 80 William St Woolloomooloo