Are you interested in becoming a Bilingual Community Educator? (BCE)

The SWSLHD Health Promotion Service is currently recruiting interested eligible people to be trained to become BCEs. BCE’s are trained to deliver health education programs to culturally and linguistically diverse (CALD) communities in the following languages:

Male BCEs: Arabic, Assyrian, Vietnamese, Cantonese and Mandarin
Female BCEs: Hindi (Fijian Hindi), Vietnamese, Dari, Nepalese and Samoan languages.

Selection Criteria:
• Fluency and ability to read and write English and your own language. The training will be provided in English and you will be required to deliver the program in your own community language.
• Experience in group facilitation and conducting community education sessions or relevant teaching or social welfare skills.
• Availability to attend six day training at Cumberland Hospital, North Parramatta on the following dates:

If you are fluent in one of the above languages and would like to become an accredited BCE then please join us for an information session about the BCE program and the application process.

Date: Tuesday 11 February 2020
Time: 10.00am to 12.00pm
Venue: Merit Building Eastern Campus Liverpool Hospital
